DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1-7, Applicant states that the bearing is leakproof and dustproof.

However, the recitation in claim 1 that the edge of the race is in almost contact with the inner wall of the shaft seat, indicates that dust can enter ^{OR} fluid can leak into the bearing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 4-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Muto et al. (4,571,011).

Regarding claim 1, Muto et al. discloses a bearing comprising a shaft seat (5a) having a bearing provided therein, and a rotation shaft (4) rotatably mounted in the bearing, the improvement comprising a race (23) formed with a hold closely combined on the rotation shaft located above the bearing (see fig. 2), and a circumferential edge of the race is in contact with the inner wall of the shaft seat.

Regarding claims 4-5 and 7, Muto et al. discloses a bearing wherein the thickness of the mediate portion of the race is gradually tapered toward the circumferential edge of the race 23, see fig. 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muto et al. as applied to claims 1, 4-5 and 7 above, and further in view of Shy (6,024,496). Muto et al. discloses a bearing as claimed, but does not disclose an annular groove. However, Shy teaches a rotation shaft (16) having an annular groove (17) for a snapping connection of a snap member (21).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the bearing of Muto et al. with the groove of Shy so as to secure the shaft in its position during operation.

7. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muto et al. as applied to claims 1, 4-5 and 7 above, and further in view of McInerney (4,613,288). Muto et al.

Art Unit: 3682

discloses a bearing as claimed, but lacks a washer. However, McInerney teaches a washer (85) mounted on a rotation shaft (78) between a race (87) and a bearing (82).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the bearing of Muto et al. with the washer, as taught by McInerney, to reduce friction during rotation and to further seal the bearing so as to prevent oil or dust from entering the bearing.

8. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muto et al. as applied to claims 1, 4-5 and 7 above, and further in view of Liu et al. (6,020,664). Muto et al. discloses a bearing, as claimed, but does not disclose the tapered shape of the race as described by the applicant. However, Liu et al. teaches the tapered shape (see fig. 3a).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the shape of the race of Muto et al. with the teachings of Liu et al. to provide a more stable race in order to prevent vibrations and additional friction during rotation.

Conclusion
